

Executive summary

Contribute to a more sustainable and healthier intake of nutrition!

We need to eat and drink more effectively, starting today! More effectively for the planet and for all her inhabitants. Health & sustainability is a disruptive lifestyle for which Protifarm has a sustainable proposition that can make a difference towards the challenges the world is facing Protifarm is an Agri-tech scale up in Ermelo riding the wave of an ongoing and increasing demand for more sustainable, nutritious food.

In our fully automated breeding and rearing facility, based on vertical farming and distinguishing patented processing techniques, insect larvae are converted into sustainable, high-quality, functional ingredients for the food and potentially nutraceutical industry.

We bridge the gap in consumer acceptance by producing (recognizable) functional ingredients for the food industry, for everyday recipes.

A unique business proposition delivering strong return on investment based on strong IP combined with a highly scalable operation that forms the basis for an international roll out
